

The Ancient History of India: An Archeological View

by Potluri Rao In Seattle ©2018 (CC BY 4.0)

The current version of the ancient history of India has no scientific basis. It was derived from the Sanskrit fictional stories, a compilation of non-verifiable and nonsensical statements of unnatural characters and events.

Contrary to the claims by the linguists, Sanskrit did not exist before the Greeks in Kashmir. Sanskrit was a mixture of only an Avestan dialect of South Bactria (Avesta) and Grandhika of Hindus. The current version of the history of Sanskrit as presented in textbooks is the history of Avestan, not Sanskrit.

Brahmins (DNA Z93) were Avestans kicked out to Kashmir for their unethical and immoral social behavior of robbing people with fictional rituals called Yajna. Idolatry, the worship of gods housed in temples, was a Greek invention to rob people. The Greeks in Kashmir discovered the unethical Avestan Brahmin refugees and put them on their payroll to help them invent fictional stories of their fictional temple gods in a synthetic Sanskrit language of artificial rules of syntax and grammar that they invented.

Using scientific tools, we purged Avestan from Sanskrit (Avestan + Grandhika) to excavate Grandhika. The excavated Grandhika sections were pure logic; the discarded Avestan sections were plain rubbish. The Grandhika sections have a fascinating story of the now lost Hindu civilization to tell.

The map shows the landscape that existed before the glacial melt of 20,000 years ago. Hindus (F) voluntarily moved out of Somalia 100,000 years ago to reach Peninsular India. They were rainwater people and lived only along the path of Indian monsoon winds, the white line. They were Asian Homo Sapiens; they had nothing to do with the African or European Homo Sapiens.

Europeans (R1) evolved only after the glacial melt, from the Stone Age. Some of them moved to Bactria only 4,000 years ago. Some of the R1a, called Sindhus, moved to the Indus River, near Pakistan. They were the people of the epic Mahabharata. They were warmongers; it was their culture. They were Sindhus (R1a), not Hindus (F). Sindhus never lived in Peninsular India; Hindus never lived in the Indus.

Some Europeans, called Avestans (R1a1), moved to South Bactria (Avesta). Brahmins (Z93) were a subgroup (R1a1-a1h) of Avestans. Avestans worshiped nature by offering prayers, called Yasna, to express their gratitude. They had no gods in human form.

Brahmins were con artists. They invented fictional gods in human form, called Vishnu, Shiva, and Indra, as miracle makers. They claimed to have acquired supernatural powers through meditation (tapas) to command gods to perform miracles on demand to cure any ailment. They invented fictional rituals called Yajna to invoke the gods on demand for a price. They marketed their gods as snake oil. Compilations of fictional Yajna were called the Vedas. The Vedas were composed in the Avestan dialect, not Sanskrit. They were fiction invented to market the Brahmin gods as snake oil.

Avestans realized that Brahmins were robbing them with fictional, worthless Yajna rituals. The Vedas, Yajna, and Brahmin were forbidden in Avesta. The unethical and immoral Brahmins (Z93) were kicked out to Kashmir.

The Greeks in Kashmir discovered the Avestan Brahmin refugees and put them on their payroll to invent fictional stories of their fictional temple gods. They invented Sanskrit as a mixture of only the Grandhika of Hindus and the Avestan of Brahmins to conceal the true identity of Brahmins. The forbidden Avestan Vedas were resurrected in Sanskrit as sacred texts of Hindus. All the Sanskrit literature was the forbidden Avestan snake oil dressed in Sanskrit clothes. It was the culture of the untouchable Avestan Brahmins, not the Hindu culture. The DNA samples revealed the true identity of Brahmins as the Avestans (Z93) kicked out of Avesta.

In the Sanskrit rubbish, the native Hindus (F) were portrayed as an inferior race, and the European immigrants (R1) were portrayed as the Aryan invaders that subjugated the native uncivilized. It was the psychological plague invented by the Greeks and their Brahmin stooges that destroyed the Hindu civilization.

People who believe in the Sanskrit rubbish as the divine truth are mentally retarded, incapable of separating fact from fiction. All Sanskrit literature was reduced to ashes when tossed in the fire of Hindu logic of hypothesis testing. The recent Sanskrit rubbish was falsely promoted as the ancient Hindu sacred texts.

Reading material

Home