

The Hindu University at Patna, an Archeological View by Potluri Rao In Seattle ©2018 (CC BY 4.0)

Twenty thousand years ago the Kui, Mundari, and Agni people moved to the foot of the Mt. Trikuta of the Vindhya in search of dependable perennial rainwater. Their original homelands were submerged by the rising seawater levels caused by the glacial melt.

Agni (DNA J2b) lived along the Ken river and spoke the Grandhika dialects. Kui (DNA H) lived along the Hiran tributary of the Narmada river and spoke the Teli dialects. Mundari (DNA O) lived along the Sone river and spoke the Mundari dialects.

Around 2,200 BCE, there was a global drought that lasted for almost 200 years. The Trikuta reservoirs dried out, and all the people were forced to move to the east of the Satpura Range. They lived from the Patna city (Bihar), to the current Hirakud reservoir (Odisha) of the Mahanadi river. Over time, some of them moved south to the coast.

The Agni Grandhika established a University at Patna to teach logic. The University had no central campus. The faculty were located all over the place. Students moved from one professor to the next. The original Rig Veda and Bhagavad Gita were books on logic at the University written in Grandhika. The Agni professors Vasudeva Krishna, Siddhartha, Ajatashatru, and Mahavira lived around Patna.

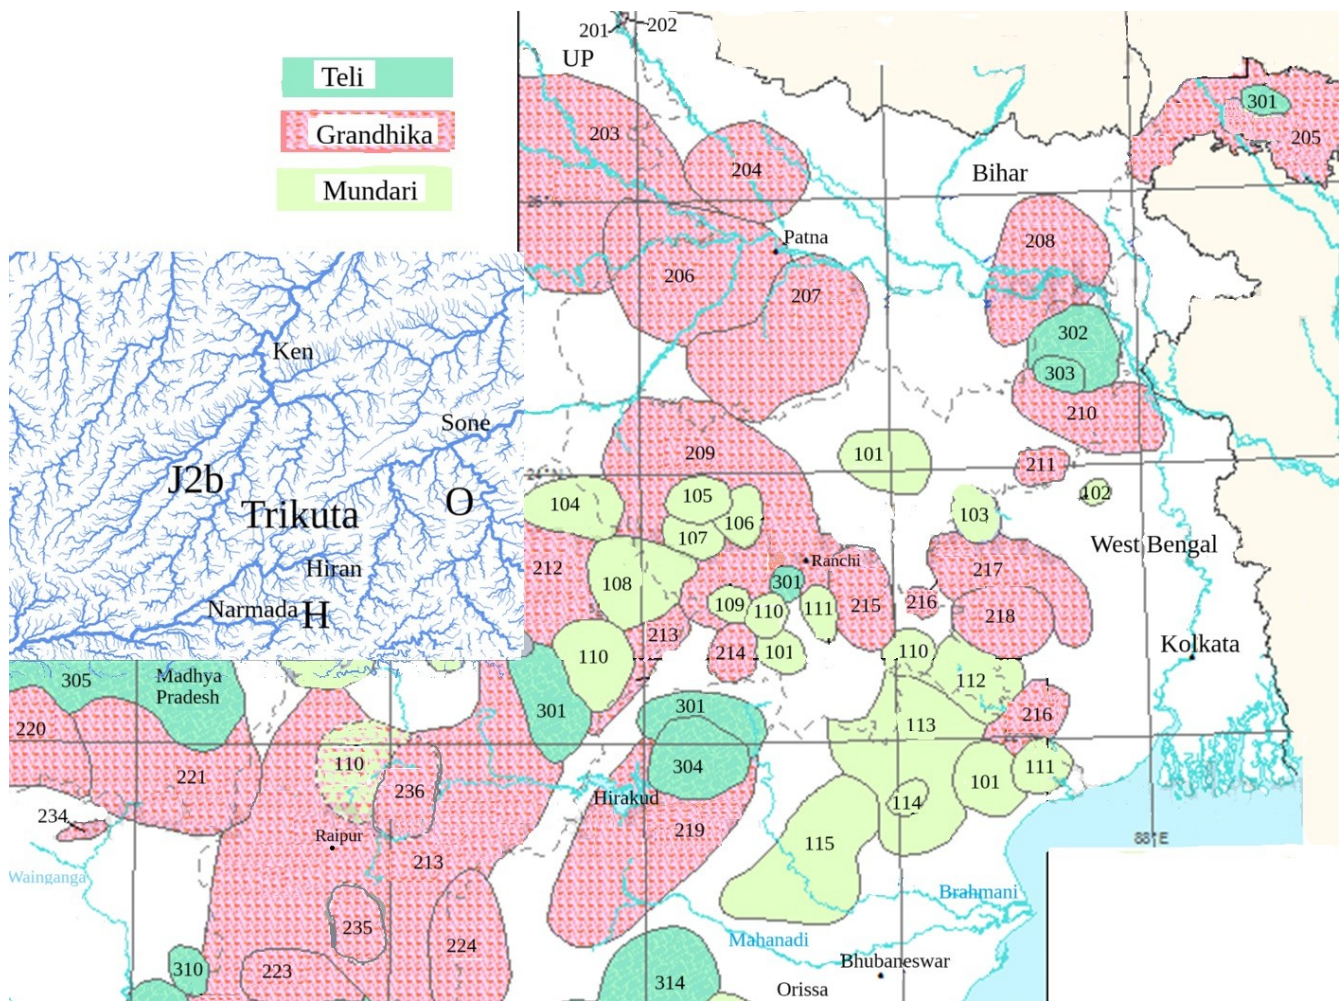

The Hindu University, logic, and cultures were deliberately and totally destroyed by the Greek colonialists who moved to Patna only recently. The Greeks (R1b) employed some unethical Persians (R1a1) to vandalize all the logic books at the University to worship manuals of fictional warmongering Persian Zend Avesta gods. Shiva, Vishnu, and Indra were Zend Avesta gods. Hindu never had a war or god.

The unethical Persians on the Greek payroll invented Sanskrit, a pseudo Grandhika, a mixture of Grandhika of Patna and Avestan of Persia. Sanskrit was invented only after Greeks moved to Kashmir, to deliberately vandalize Grandhika literature. All the Sanskrit literature was recent fiction, falsely promoted as of antiquity.

Sanskrit has only Grandhika of Patna and Avestan of Persia. We were able to excavate the Grandhika sections by identifying and discarding Avestan.

The excavated Grandhika Rig Veda, Bhagavad Gita, and Ramayana were pure logic. The discarded Avestan sections were plain rubbish.

The map below, derived from the Census 2011 data, shows the areas where the Hindu dialects are still spoken. The distribution of the dialects speaks volumes of the people who lived at the Trikuta for 20,000 years. They were the native Hindu.

Hindu (J2b, H, O) lived at the Trikuta for over 20,000 years. The Grandhika people moved to the Patna city only after the global drought.

Grandhika was the language at the Trikuta for 20,000 years. Sanskrit was invented in Kashmir only after the Greeks moved to Kashmir. It was a mixture of only Grandhika and Avestan. It was not a naturally evolved dialect of any people. It was synthetic. Avestans in Kashmir were social outcasts expelled from Avesta for unethical behavior. They were Greek stooges who vandalized both Avestan and Grandhika literature with the synthetic Sanskrit. All the Sanskrit literature was a collection of non verifiable and nonsensical statements.